NUMB. 69.

THE South-Carolina Gazette.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Saturday, MAY 17. to Saturday, MAY 24. 1735.

By Capt. Ayres, who arrived here in 7 Weeks from London, we have the following News out of the Publick Prints and written Letters

Nancy in Lorrain, March 13.

'NOtwithſtanding what is talk'd of as well at 'Paris as at Vienna concerning the enſuing 'Campaign in Germany, upon a View juſt 'taken of the Rhine, I cannot think it will 'open ſo ſoon as we pretend on both Sides; 'for there does not appear the leaſt likelihood of it, not 'but all the King's Magazines are full of Proviſion as 'well on the Frontiers as in Alſace; I have ſeen thoſe 'of Huningue, Calmar, Scheleſtat, Strasburg and 'Fort de Keil, and the Director-General of the Pro-'viſions of the Army told me that all the other Magazines 'lower down are ſupply'd in the ſame plentiful Manner; 'ſo that there has never been in any Campaign ſuch a 'prodigious Quantity amaſs'd together, all along from 'Strasburg to Landau; I ſaw alſo a vaſt Number of Boats 'on the Rhine, and an infinite Number of Carpenters 'working daily in building others, as alſo ſeveral flying 'Bridges, and all other Materials for a Siege, but we 'cannot yet judge where they will be apply'd, whether at 'Mayence or Old Briſac. The Moment Orders come for 'conducting the ſaid Boats I ſhall be inform'd thereof, 'and then you ſhall alſo have Advice of them. Whilſt I 'was on my Journey, the Emperor ſent Trumpets to the 'capital Towns of the three Biſhopricks Metz, Toul and 'Verdun, as alſo to Calmar, Scheleſtat, Strasburg and 'Landau, to ſummon the Magiſtrates to pay Contributions 'on Pain of Military Execution; this ſeems an extraordina-'ry Piece of News, as his Imperial Majeſty is not in a 'Condition to add the leaſt Force to his Demand, but it 'is nevertheleſs true, and the Reaſon of it is, as I am in-'form'd, that theſe Towns were formerly number'd among 'the free Cities, and as ſuch were Members of the Roman 'Empire, and therefore in Time of War, or other Diſ-'putes, the Emperor by the like open Summons, renews 'the Relation they have to the Germanick Body, and his 'own Imperial Authority over them. Glad would they 'be without doubt to anſwer to the Call, as theſe Towns 'then enjoy'd Sovereign Privileges, govern'd by their 'own Magiſtrates, and were repreſented in the Dyet of 'the Empire by their own Deputies, but theſe Liberties 'are now ſwallow'd up, the Form of the old Government 'indeed is ſtill partly extant, but a King's Lieutenant and 'a Garriſon of ſeveral thouſand Military Burghers, with a 'Common Council of general and other ſubordinate 'Officers, make a vaſt Alteration in the Magiſtracy of a 'Town or Country.

'I imagine the Campaign will not begin before May, 'becauſe of the low Condition of the French Regiments, 'by Sickneſs; the Number of Horſes have been alſo much 'diminiſhed by the many fatiguing Marches during the laſt 'Campaign; and tho' there are arriv'd a great Number of 'Recruits, and there is a Quantity of dry Forage in the 'Country ſufficient to ſubſiſt an Army of 40,000 Men for 'two Months, it will not however be for the Common 'Intereſt of the Service, or the Particular Intereſt of the 'Collonels to march theſe Recruits into the Field, till 'they are a little form'd to their Buſineſs.

'We have loſt here I can't tell how the Privilege of an 'ancient Concordat within theſe few Days, by which all 'Lorrainers that were enliſted in the French Service, 'were to be employ'd at Home, and might withdraw 'from the ſaid Service at their own Pleaſure, or after the 'Term they engaged for was expired, returning the En-'gagement-Money, Cloaths, &c. to a Commiſſary named 'for ſuch Purpoſes; but now they muſt ſerve and march 'as the Subjects of France are obliged to do. The King's 'Commandant and his Highneſs's Governor have been 'both charged with the Execution of this Order. By 'Computation there are now 15,000 Men of this Dutchy 'in the Troops of his moſt Chriſtian Majeſty.

'The German Faction here give out, that the Imperial 'Army will be 30,000 ſtronger on the Rhine than it was 'the laſt Year. We have indeed a continual Rumour of '30,000 Muſcovites furniſh'd by the Czarina to come into 'this Country, but the News is ſo extraordinary, that 'few People give Credit to it; and if true, the Princes of 'the Empire will very ill reliſh a Proceeding of the like 'Nature We hear that 12,000 Saxons are in March, 'but no Preparations as I know of are yet made to receive 'them.

'Count de Belliſle was expected daily from Paris, who 'is to carry on a Project toward Coblentz, and Preparations 'have already been made to cut out a Camp between Saar 'Louis and Sarbruck, ſix Leagues from it, which is on 'German Ground, an Eſtate belonging to a Prince of Naſ-'ſau.

LONDON, March 1.

Yeſterday Sev'night was held a ſpecial Board of Admiralty when their Lordſhips were pleaſed to order the following Men of War to be ſheathed and dock'd, in order to be put in Commiſſion, viz. the Royal Sovereign and the London, Firſt Rates, and the Northumberland, a Third Rate; and on Thurſday laſt they were pleaſed to order four Third Rate Men of War, ſix Fourth Rates, and ſix Fifth Rates to be docked and cleaned, in order to be put in Commiſſion.

The Number of Land Forces granted for the Service of the Year 1735 is 25,744 Men upon the Engliſh Eſtabliſh-ment: The Number of Forces the laſt Year was 17,704; ſo that there is an additional Number of 8040. By which our Coffee houſe Polititians reckon that the French and their Allies will be frightned into the Terms of Peace that are to be offered them.

They have already begun to impreſs Sailors from the Homeward bound Ships, in order to make up the Comple-ment of 30,000 Seamen, allowed for next Year.

On the 1ſt Day of March N. S. died at Wolfenbuttle in Germany, in the 64th Year of his Age, Lewis Rudolphus Gulph, Duke of Brunſwick-Wolfenbuttel; who was deſ-cended from the eldeſt Son of Henry Duke of Lunenburg, as his Majeſty is from the Younger: On Account of this Prince's Death the Court will ſoon go into Mourning for a Month. March

March 7. We hear from Staining in Sussex, that one Logget a Butcher of that Town, killed an Ox the 24th past, and found the Fat about the Kidneys to weigh 226 Pounds, and the Lean of it but two Pounds.

March 10. Letters from the Frontiers of Poland advise, that the Poles of King Staniſlaus's Party had gained very considerable Advantages over those of the opposite Party, particularly that General Steinflicht had taken a Convoy of 100 Waggons, laden with Provisions, and 40,000 Ducats in Specie, for the Court of Warsaw, escorted by a Saxon Regiment, under the Command of General Birkholtz, the major Part of whom were killed, and the General taken Prisoner.

Letters from Great Poland advise, that the Army of the Palatine of Lublin had taken Lissa and Carga, and pillaged them, and burnt the Saxon Magazines.

These Letters add, that the Duke of Sax Weissenfels was marching with his Troops to fight the Poles, and at the Departure of the Post, they had News that he was arrived at Neustadt, within 6 Leagues of the Polish Army.

Advices from Silesia of the 8th assure us, that General Steinflicht had enterd that Province with 17,000 Men and 20 Pieces of Cannon, which had occasioned a General Allarm, both there and in the Luſace; but this wants Confirmation.

Seven Sail of Men of War are now at Blackstakes taking in their Guns and Provisions.

We hear that 10 000 l. will be granted by Parliament, towards establishing the new Colony of Georgia in America.

The following is an Extract from a Letter from our French Correspondent.

'The Propositions lately received as a Plan for an Accommodation, seem to our Court (i. e. that of Paris) a little imperfect, so that we believe it will not put a Stop to the Operations of this Campaign; we do not care to say much upon so delicate an Affair, but we'll give you an extract of the Heads of it, Part of which we had some time ago from Vienna, by which it appears that the thing is not new to them, tho' there has been a small Alteration since made, I suppose, to bring it the more to the Gout of that Court Here it is in short; I may stretch it out into Particulars another time.

Propositions made at the Hague, and communicated to the Ministers of the foreign Powers now in War.

'Don Carlos to have the two Sicilies, the Parmasan, and the Plaisantine.

'The Emperor to have the Succession of the Duchy of Tuscanny, the Mantuan, the Milaneze, and the Cremoneze.

'The King of Sardinia, the Tortoneze, the Novareze, and the Lodisan.

'Article of Pragmatick Sanction not decided.

'To King Staniſlaus, the Title of King, and his own Revenues.

'There are no Questions about Marriages.

'The States General demand the Demolition of the Port of Ostende

'The Maritime Powers demand a Suspension of Arms.

CHARLESTOWN, May 24.

The Barbadoe's Gazettes from March 26. to April 12. contain nothing but Lamentations and Expressions of Grief and Sorrow over the Loss of their late Governour, and recount His matchless Virtues: Hoping it will not be disagreable to the Reader, I thought fit to insert a paragraph out of one of the said Gazettes, from March 28.

Stupendous Grief! that smote us by Surprise,
And snatch'd away the Pleasure of our eyes.

I Am now to mention the worst Piece of News that ever had a Place in this Paper or probably ever will; and which therefore I insert with a trembling Hand and an aching Heart; as well for the heavy Loss, as from the most terrible Apprehensions of what may be the direful Consequences of it. — Last Night about Twelve o'Clock dy'd Scroop Lord Viscount HOWE, our Governour, after Six Days Illness of a Fever, to the unspeakable Grief of the Inhabitants of this Island in general. His EXCELLENCY was very violently seiz'd, but the Distemper took such different Turns that after he had been more than once given over, we were several Times amus'd with the Hopes of his Recovery, for which every body was so anxious that a Stranger might have learnt the latest News from Pilgrim's by the dejected or chearful Countenances alternately to be met in the Streets of Bridge-Town. Even so lately as Yesterday Morning some favourable Symptoms were said to appear, which once more reviv'd our drooping Hearts; but all was dash'd again by Noon, and we had then the dismal Account of my Lord's being on the Point of Death, from which Time he languish'd till about the Turn of the Night when he expir'd, having some Hours before taken Leave of his Relations and Friends in the most tender and affectionate Manner. He dy'd indeed, by the Report of all present, like a true Christian Hero, and left the World with as good a Grace as any of the most celebrated of the Greeks and Romans.

For all he said, like all he did, was Great.

It was observable, that his Lordship's Indisposition had such an Effect upon Persons of all Ranks and Conditions that it caus'd a Stagnation of both publick and private Business, very little of either being done during the whole Time, but every one seem'd to think the Event, with respect to that most valuable Life, of greater Importance than any thing else that immediately concern'd him We hear there is not a Family in the Country but looks like the House of Mourning, and might well be thought to have lost its own Head, by the Sighs and Tears that are incessantly pour'd forth on this melancholy Occasion. ——— His EXCELLENCY was in the 37th Year of his Age, and has left behind him Eight Children, viz. Four Sons and Four Daughters, the former being in England, and the latter here, where the youngest was born. The two eldest are of an Age to know, and we doubt not are perfectly sensible of their Loss; but the other lovely little Babes are only capable of drawing fresh Tears from the Eyes of those that look on them as the Offspring of that Noble Personage whom they lov'd and honour'd when alive, and whose Memory will be for ever dear to them. It may possibly be expected that we enter into the Character of this Great and Valuable Man; but we dare not attempt it. ——— To draw it justly would require, as it deserves, the best Pen that ever wrote; and we have Reason to believe that those who are most able in this Place, and have sometimes embellish'd our Paper, are at present too deeply concern'd at the irreparable Misfortune, and too sensibly touch'd with the cutting Reflection of being depriv'd of Him who has been their Darling Subject, and of whom they can now only say, HE WAS, but that HE IS no more! ———

Does Heaven such Gifts as these bestow on Men,
So soon alas! to call them back again!

The following is an Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London to his Friend here in Town.

'We are in Peace, but preparing for War, & the fitting out a large Squadron of Men of War occasions Sailors Wages to be excessive high, which greatly damages Trade, I'm afraid, if we enter into the Quarrel, that you will have the Chucktaws instigated by the French, making Inroads upon Carolina, and under such an Apprehension, I hear the Trustees of Georgia are solliciting to have the help of Parliament, to enable them to erect Forts & Garrisons on the back of that Country, to prevent the mischief that in Case of War might be done on your Frontiers. I hope they'll succeed & in time, that you'll be able to drive the French further back & the Spaniards from St. Auguſtine.

On Fryday the 16th Instant about twelve of the Clock, died the Wife of the Hon. PAUL JENYS Esq; Speaker of the Hon. the Commons House of Assembly.
